Rules

This month, the Rules committee finished their review of the alpha packet feedback and have consolidated any changes into the official Alliance 2.1 beta playtest packet, which has been announced and posted on the forums. If you have any questions regarding the packet ahead of any playtests you may be attending, feel free to join the discussion over in the Rules forum.

This month, the Technical committee worked to get the 2.1 Beta CMA live and functional for the upcoming playtest cycle.

The Technical committee is recruiting! If you have experience with Ruby/Ruby on Rails and want to get involved, email Albert at dragonstamps@alliancelarp.com.

Diversity

The Diversity team has completed the first half of the lineage packets rewrite, with the second half expected to be completed by April 15th.

Publicity

The Publicity committee has worked on 2.0 and 2.1 cheat sheets intended for new players, and plans to make them publicly available upon completion.

Design

The Design committee continues to work on generating ideas for new rituals and superior equipment. The team is very excited to see feedback and discussion of 2.1 and looks forward to this level of hype on future projects.

Documentation

The Documentation committee spent this month finishing up revisions to the 2.0 rulebook and typing/formatting the Alliance 2.1 beta packet. The team next plans to tackle the remaining information in the Player's Guide and assist in the lineage packet reworks.
